

Vermont Interfaith Power and Light

Faith Community Membership

Vermont Interfaith Power and Light (VTIPL) supports faith communities in reducing the harmful effects of global climate change. We are committed to the practice of energy conservation, energy efficiency, and use of renewable energy to reduce the greenhouse gas emissions that are rapidly leading to a climate crisis.

This commitment honors our belief that Earth and Creation are sacred and precious. Our faith community pledges, together with other members of VTIPL, to increase our awareness of global climate change and to engage in one or more of the following actions [please check action(s) planned]:

Engage in an ongoing process of education with members of our faith community concerning environmental stewardship and energy production and usage in relation to global climate change.

Conduct an energy audit of our faith community's building(s) to identify sources of energy waste and the potential financial savings of energy-related improvements.

Make energy efficiency improvements to our faith community's building(s).

Make a financial contribution to Vermont Interfaith Power and Light.

Utilize renewable energy by purchasing green power, installing solar panels, contributing to a wind turbine fund, or using other renewable energy sources.

Analyze, reduce, and offset our greenhouse gas emissions with the goal of becoming a non-polluting faith community.

Support public policies that help solve the problem of global climate change.
